MAYFIELD JURY CANNOT AGREE

WOMAN POSITIVE IN HER IDENTIFICATIONS IN HALL-MILLS CASE

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct 26—Mrs Jane Gibson, pig raiser, who claims to have witnessed the murder of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs Eleanor R. Mills, today told a newspaper man she had identified the man who she says shot the rector, as well as identifying the woman who she asserts was with the murderer

Mrs Gibson, who was on the Phillips farm the night of the double murder looking for corn thieves and who claimed to have heard the murderer's name called by his woman companion, said that she did not know the identity of the slayer at the time but that she recently had recognized him in the prosecutor's office in New Brunswick.

After a conference with his detectives, Prosecutor Mott told newspaper men that he was in a position to make an arrest at once but that he preferred to wait until a more opportune time

"The story told by Mrs. Gibson," he said, "is important o fcourse but I have much other information upon which I could depend even if I did not have that woman's statement. I am suspicious of some people but just who they are I am not at this time prepared to say I want to be fair and will not cast any insinuations"

Mr Mott declared that because of certain information which had just reached him he thought it unnecessary to question anybody today and so notified all those to whom he had sent summons

RED ARMY TROOPS TAKE POSSESSION OF VLADIVOSTOK

By Associated Press

TOKIO, Oct 26—Troops of the red army representing the far eastern republic of Siberia were in complete possession of Vladivostok today The last of the Japanese soldiers evacuated the city yesterday after handing over to the invading reds an inventory of the arms left behind and the keys to the warehouse containing them Only a Japanese staff captain remained to complete the transfer of military stores.

An American gunboat, British and French cruisers and Japanese warships remain in the Vladivostok harbor to protect foreigners until the Chita forces have taken over the administration and assume responsibility for maintaining order

The only Japanese soldiers remaining on Russian soil are those in the northern part of Sakhallen island but the Japanese public is demanding their return also, as it is feared that restoration of trade with Siberia will be impossible until this is accomplished.

A wireless message to the admiralty today said that both the soviet government of Moscow and the government of the far eastern republic at Chita were represented in the delegation that took over the arms from the Japanese

Peace remained in the city as the transports pulled out of the harbor and as most of the white guards have departed no trouble is anticipated However the American, British, French and Japanese warships still are riding at their anchorage off the city as a protection to the nationals of their countries

GREAT BRITAIN IS FULL OF ORATORY; 1,300 CANDIDATES

MANY ENTRIES FOR SEAT IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

LABOR PARTY MANIFESTO HOLDS PROMINENT PLACE

Interest Centers In Glasgow Where New Prime Minister Has Two Opponents.

GLASGOW, Oct 26—Prime Minister Bonar Law was unanimously adopted today as the conservative and unionist candidate for parliament from the central division of Glasgow. A resolution of confidence in him was passed.

By Associated Press

LONDON, Oct 26—Oratory by aspirants for seats in the new parliament fills the land. Thirteen hundred candidates have up to now entered the campaign for membership in the house of commons

Of these about 425 are conservatives. In round numbers labor has 400 candidates in the field, the Asquithing or free liberals 300 and the Lloyd Georgean or national liberals 200

To obtain an outright majority in the new parliament any one party would have to elect 315 candidates It will be seen therefore that the conservatives and laborites are the only two with enough candidates in the field to obtain an independent majority Their organizations have been shipped into far better shape than those of the other parties

The laborite manifesto holds a prominent place in all the morning papers today The Morning Post dubs it a dreamy document and "a rather obvious failure to disembale the iron claws of communism in the nice woolen glove of charity"

The Westminster Gazette admits that there is much in the laborite manifesto which the liberals readily endorse, but says the task to which labor has set itself is Herculanean and would need the work of many parliaments to complete.

Of the main centers of interest in the whole election is Glasgow, where the new prime minister Andrew Bonar Law has two opponents in his campaign for reelection as the member from the central division of that city

Former Bailie Mitchell is his opponent on the labor ticket and Sir George Paish opposing him as a free liberal.

Labor is making a strong campaign among the large population of Glasgow At present only one of the 15 constituencies in that city represented by a labor member

One of the candidates in Glasgow is the communist John MacLean whose term of twelve months in prison for sedition expired yesterday

GULF OFFICES TO MOVE AWAY BEFORE END OF NOVEMBER

WILL PROBABLY GO BACK TO FORT WORTH; 60 FAMILIES AFFECTED.

THIS CITY TO REMAIN DISTRICT HEADQUARTERS

Smaller Force to Be Maintained Here; Housing Situation Is Chief Reason.

Definite announcement that north Texas headquarters of the Gulf Production company will be moved away from Wichita Falls before the end of November was made Thursday morning by Walter B Pyron third vice president of the company The announcement confirms rumors which have been in circulation here for some time

Sixty families will be affected by the move which will probably be to Fort Worth, although this point is not yet definitely determined The move restores the situation which existed prior to September of last year when the offices were moved here from Fort Worth business of this immediate district will be handled by a much smaller force which will be maintained here permanently

Dissatisfaction among officials and employes of the company over housing conditions here and failure to get train service to the Breckenridge and Eastland pools prompted the decision to move the offices away Comparatively few of the office personnel favored the move from Fort Worth last year and their attitude toward the situation here was a big factor it is understood in bringing about the change When the move was made the chamber of commerce promised to use every effort to provide rent houses, and for a time part of the rents were paid out of a fund contributed by citizens who wanted to see this city made headquarters for such a concern

In recent months increasing demand for houses here has made it difficult for many Gulf employes to feel satisfied with conditions Advancing rental charges and other factors caused much dissatisfaction

While the company's decision to move is regretted by local business men, the feeling prevails that the blame, if there is any rests with property owners who took no interest in the effort to keep the company's headquarters here The move is looked upon as a reflection upon Wichita Falls in a measure but it is pointed out that rent houses are always plentiful in dead towns and scarce in live ones and that the condition is one that it is difficult to meet

The Gulf company has for a time been considering the consolidation of its Tulsa, Fort Worth Wichita Falls Houston and other headquarters into one general office in some southwestern city, this will not be done. It has been decided and the only change will be the removal of the offices from Wichita Falls The move will most likely be to Fort Worth, although Dallas is also being considered.

The rooms in the Waggoner building occupied by the offices to be moved will not lack tenants very long it was stated Thursday Numerous applications for the space are being received by the building manager It is not anticipated that the vacating of residences will go very far toward relieving the existing housing shortage

REQUEST COPY OF LETTER AND OTHER EVIDENCE IN CASE AND AGAIN RETIRE TO DELIBERATE

CORSICANA TEXAS Oct 26—The jury before which the state is seeking to keep the name of Earle B Mayfield off the ballot as democratic United States senatorial candidate had not reached an agreement at 9 45 o'clock this morning

A request was made of Judge Scarbrough that the copy of the letter which Mike McNamara said he wrote to Mr Mayfield enclosing $200 the reply of Mr Mayfield and the registered receipt on which appeared Mr Mayfield's name, signed by I Billard be given the jury They were turned over to the jury The foreman of the jury asked the court if it would be proper to ask how the jury stood but was told no The court asked the foreman if agreement had been reached on any of the 21 questions submitted and after a slight hesitation the foreman replied in the negative The jury then retired for further deliberation

The McNamara letter asked for $2 the jury was dated June 3 and the letter from Mr Mayfield as well as the registered letter receipt were dated June 4

Judge Scarbrough again told newspapermen today that he would keep the jury together until this evening at least if no agreement was reached in the meantime

It was said at the court house that if the jury disagrees the temporary restraining order which kept the secretary of state from certifying the name of Mr Mayfield as a candidate would remain in force until the appeal concerning it now pending in the state supreme court is decided If the jury should find in Mr Mayfield's favor it was said the temporary restraining order would be dissolved automatically

The jury informally sent word to Judge Scarbrough at 2 30 o'clock that it had been unable to agree and asked that it be dismissed The court refused to act on the request at that time.

AUSTIN, Oct 26—At the special request of the supreme court the attorney general's department today filed additional authorities on the state's side of the Mayfield injunction suit which was heard by the court yesterday. The court did not convene this morning as had been expected, to make some announcement on the Mayfield case It was not considered likely it would meet this afternoon

Secretary of State Staples after a conference with Attorney General Keeling stated today that he cannot take action immediately following the decision of the supreme court since the answers to the certified questions from the Dallas court of civil appeals must be sent back to that court The Dallas court will then render its decision it was said and Staples' action will be based on the civil appeals court's decision.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER JR. DECLARES GRIEVANCE OF MINERS WELL FOUNDED

NEW YORK Oct 26—John D Rockefeller Jr on vacation in Battle Creek Michigan has taken up the budget in behalf of the coal miners in Somerset county, Pa, particularly those employed by the Consolidation Coal company, of which he is a stockholder

In a telegram given out by F Ernest Johnson, secretary of the research department of the federal council of churches, Mr Rockefeller is quoted as saying that the miners grievances are well founded and brands the labor policy of the operators as unwise and unjust, which should be radically altered

Mr Rockefeller quoted a statement he made when a member of President Wilson's first industrial conference that represents what was fundamentally just and vital to the successful conduct of that industry and that it was not consistent for Americans to demand democracy in government and practice autocracy in industry

UNITED STATES IS INVITED TO ATTEND PEACE CONFERENCE

PARIS Oct 26—France Italy and Great Britain have agreed to invite the United States to participate officially in the near east peace conference at Lausanne, Switzerland, November 12

The suggestion that the United States be invited came from Lord Curzon the British secretary for foreign affairs The invitation will be handed to the state department in Washington probably tomorrow by the French British and Italian embassies

Identical invitations will be issued to the United States Turkey, Russia, Great Britain, Italy Japan Jugo-Slavia and Rumania for the peace conference, and to the soviet Russian and Bulgarian governments to take part in the discussion of the question of the Dardanelles

SILENT PENDING RECEIPT OF OFFICIAL INFORMATION

WASHINGTON Oct 26—Pending receipt of the official invitation for American participation in the Lausanne peace conference, official comment as to the American attitude is withheld

There is every reason to believe the trend of opinion in government circles does not favor American participation in the conference beyond the possible appointment of an unofficial observer

Should the allied invitation reach Washington in time unquestionably it will come in for consideration by the cabinet at tomorrow's session That discussion must of necessity be predicated upon the fact that the Lausanne meeting is a peace conference at which belligerent nations propose to arrive at a treaty of peace as between themselves The United States is not and has not been a belligerent in the near eastern troubles. Friendly relations between the United States and Turkey have never been interrupted.

An unofficial observer, it is generally believed could present the American viewpoint and pave the way for ultimate American participation in individual treaties with the belligerent powers concerned to be negotiated after the Lausanne treaty had been ratified by its signatories.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—Investigations to determine the necessity for changes in tariff rates as provided for under the so-called flexible provisions of the new tariff law may be made by the tariff commission on its own initiative under rules of procedure made public today by the commission. Applications made under section 316 must be under oath and, together with the evidence submitted with it shall be considered by the commission with a view to determining whether the entry of any goods should be prohibited pending further inquiry

Woman Banker Proves Her Sex Can Manage Business and Home

MRS. LULA H. CUSENBARY.

By MARIAN HALE

Home before business, but business before pleasure, is the policy that has enabled Mrs. Lula H. Cusenbary to combine successfully a home and business career.

Now she is vice president of the Bank of Hydro, Okla., a job coveted by many a man and looked upon with envy by many of her own sex.

But this does not prevent her managing all the details of her home and keeping an accurate eye on all expenditures. Nor has she ever lost her knack with pies or forgotten any of the culinary technique she perfected before she undertook business.

"A woman should devote just as much time to her home as it takes to run it efficiently," she told me. "But if she uses labor-saving devices and lets her head save her feet she should have time left to devote to a business or professional career if she wants one.

They Mix Well.

"Business makes a woman appreciate her home. The contrast between an office and a home puts the home in a very favorable light.

"A knowledge of housekeeping and the ability to make a home makes a woman more valuable and resourceful in business than the mere mastery of shorthand and what the commercial schools offer.

"When I first was married I learned to systematize my housework. That gave me a great deal of extra time. So I got into the habit of going down to the bank to help my husband.

"When he went away on business he left me in charge of his work. So I practically learned banking by absorption. Soon I was given a regular position, assistant cashier. I was promoted to cashier, and then to the vice presidency.

Trains Her Daughter.

"I am training my flapper daughter, Olive, to be a business woman as well as a home-maker. I consider one just as important as another."

Mrs. Cusenbary believes that the next generation of women will be financially independent and that they will keep at their jobs after marriage, just as men do.

"You would be amazed to know the progress women have made in the last 15 years," she says. "All the business women have their accounts, and the woman from the rural districts now bring in their butter and egg money and deposit it in their own personal accounts.

"Women are bringing to business their intuition and their particular feminine abilities and they are completely changing business methods."

A round table discussion centered about characters in Poe's stories, certain obscurities, and the autobiographical element. Later in the afternoon the hostess served a salad plate to Mesdames Ernest Archambeau, Bachman, Joe D. Harris, O. R. Haynie, Stanley McGregor and Burke Taylor. FASHIONS

By LEPORE

Novel effects are obtained by the use of gold and bronze embroideries this season. One of those charming dresses that are so dependable for allround wear for smart occasions uses dark brown velvet with dull gold bead embroidery around the edges of the skirt, which is divided in the front over a satin slip in the manner illustrated in the sketch. This a model from Georgette whose clothes are so well known for being simple and decorative at the same time.

Georgette keeps her models to the simple, straight silhouette, with novel details to make them original and interesting. A dress of crepe, for example, also in brown, has two necklines—the bateau and another created by a high collar attached to the dress only by a narrow piece in front.

The Floral Heights Wesley Girls will have a fruit sale at the O. W. Smith grocery Saturday.—Adv.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

THE MAGIC PILL

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Light Fingers flew after the magic automobile as fast as he could go.

Light Fingers flew after the magic automobile as fast as he could go. This time he was pretty sure of getting it for Twelve Toes, his master.

Everything else had failed—the rain, the fog, the stone-wall, and the lasso.

But this time Light Fingers was sure of himself. He put his hand into his pocket to make sure that the little pill Twelve Toes had given him was still there.

It was a magic pill and had peculiar power. It had the power of making anything it touched turn backward.

I know what you are asking right this minute, my dears. You are saying, "Then why didn't Light Fingers have to fly backward instead of going after the Twins?"

This is why. The little pill wasn't touching him at all. It was in a bottle—a little glass pill bottle—away down in his pocket.

The bad little fairy was going over and over the words of his master. "Fly after the magic automobile." Twelve Toes had told him, 'and when you get near enough, unscrew the top on the gasoline tank and drop in the magic pill. Instantly the gasoline will be bewitched, and the automobile will start to run backward over the road."

Nancy and Nick rode on and on over the Fairland road, as happy as kings. They laughed and chattered and had the best kind of a time thinking that their troubles were over.

"We ought to be at the Fairy Queen's Palace in ten minutes now," said Nick.

"Won't she be surprised when we bring her back her automobile," said Nancy.

Just then Light Fingers took the bottle out of his pocket.

Jack looked over his map carefully and found that by taking this road he could cut off many miles from his journey to the hidden treasure. This meant the saving of much time.

Then the little adventurer decided to take a chance and continue on this blocked path. "Come on, Flip," yelled Jack. "No more stops until we find the buried gold."

Jack's horse, Lightning, used all his strength and tore down the fence. In the meantime Jack spied a man some distance ahead. He was standing in the road holding a gun.

"Stop right where you are, you young sharp," commanded the man when Jack reached him. "Don't you see that this is a private road, or aren't you able to read?" (Continued.)

HASKELL, TEXAS, Oct. 24.—About 150 of Haskell citizens, including both men and women and members of the Booster Band, left the public square Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock on a boosting excursion for the Haskell County Fair and Rodeo, which is to be held on October 27 and 28. The cars in the procession were gaily bedecked with varicolored bunting, streamers and flags, while numerous small horns, whistles, etc, sent forth their notes on the morning breeze.

At O'Brien and Rochester, representative citizens greeted the caravan, and short programs were given

Rule was the next and last stop, before facing homeward, and here much enthusiasm was evinced Much of the success of the trip was due to the band boys who rendered a number of splendid pieces at each stop.

CALOMEL USERS TAKE AWFUL RISK

They Next Dose of Treacherous Drug May Start Terrible Salivation.

The next dose of calomel you take may salivate you. It may shock your liver or start bone necrosis. Calomel is dangerous. It is mercury, quicksilver. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel. It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a Mad-cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and their salivation.—Adv.

All of the taxi or stage drivers put their fare up to 50c per trip Wednesday morning and all are having a car leave out on the hour at both stands, and at the old stand at the corner of B avenue and Main street they will send out another car if there is a load. The 25c fare is cut out.

NEAR 20,000 BALES GINNED TO DATE IN WILBARGER COUNTY

VERNON, TEXAS, Oct. 26.—Rains of the past week have materially slowed up the movement of the cotton to the gins. The total number of bales ginned by the Wilbarger county gins is 19,036 for the season The gins of the county have ginned a little more than 1,500 bales the past week. This is more than had been ginned up to this date last year. Vernon gins have turned out 8,225 bales to date while the other gins of the county have ginned 10,807 bales. A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind.—II Timothy 1:7.

Common sense is the genius of humanity.—Goethe.

THE LAW AND PUBLIC CONSCIENCE.

The federal district court has been in Houston. Scores of defendants have appeared to answer charges of violations of the Volstead act for enforcement of the prohibition amendment. The situation has brought the following comment from the Houston Chronicle:

"No citizen can read even casually the report of the proceedings in the federal court during recent weeks without reaching the conclusion that while the law is functioning with vigor the public conscience is benumbed and dulled.

"Defendant after defendant came before the court and confessed without reservation, and many with an apparent air of nonchalance, that he or she had with deliberate purpose and formed design violated a statute, based upon and enacted in pursuance of imperative constitutional behest and which in every sense is the law of the land, obedience to which is obligatory upon every citizen.

"In more than one case the defendant had been before the court in the recent past on the same, or a similar charge, and in one instance a local citizen was arrested during the session of the court for an alleged third offense.

"The most discouraging phase of the situation is not that men offend against the law, but that the general public appears to be, if not in sympathy with the offenders, indifferent to widespread violation of a plain law, which violation is not mitigated or rendered less heinous by the fact that it is the result of sudden impulse or transient emotion.

"Every citizen should grasp the truth that the law was enacted out of sheer necessity, after nearly three-quarters of a century of agitation and discussion, and after the conviction had taken hold upon the public mind that the social, moral and economic welfare of a nation of more than 100,000,000 people was imperiled by continuance of a traffic which all men conceded, and which judges of the highest court of the land had declared, unfailingly bred poverty, crime and every form of social and moral harm. Its passage was the exercise of that elastic and comprehensive power known as the 'police power' of the nation—that is, the unwritten statute of protection and defense of society against harmful evils.

"Provision for its exercise in nationwide scope was made in strict conformity with the requirements of the federal constitution, and the tribunal of ultimate resort has declared and approved its entire validity.

"The language of the constitution, 'This constitution and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof . . . shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding,' means exactly what it says.

"The law against which so many offend is supreme wherever the American flag floats, and all personal opinions, personal habits, and personal rights previously possessed must yield to it. This fact should find lodgment in the public mind and take hold on the public conscience.

"The law is universal and all-embracing. No man can successfully plead his desires or opinions or beliefs when called to the bar of the court for its violation, and no citizen has the right to discountenance, discourage or obstruct its enforcement.

"While the people's representatives may have preferred not to enact it, yet they did enact it in obedience to the peremptory behest of a constitutional amendment, which was adopted in most careful conformity to constitutional requirements, and which, therefore, presumably at least, was an expression of the popular desire and will.

"It is therefore the law of the land, and it is but to state a truism to say all citizens are in duty bound to obey it.

"They are further bound to give their moral encouragement and support to those charged with its enforcement. When the public conscience is quickened, and not till then, they will perform that duty."

SHORT SIGHTED ECONOMY.

Wednesday was celebrated as Navy Day in observance of the birthday anniversary of Theodore Roosevelt.

Had congress been in session it might have observed the day by cutting the naval appropriation so that the navy department could not buy enough fuel to keep the war vessels afloat or provide for maneuvers and might have cut appropriations so that officers and the personnel of the navy would be reduced to a number that would be entirely inadequate.

That has been the tendency in our government as regards both the navy and the army. We have gone from the extreme of prodigality of wartime to the extreme of parsimony of peace time in provisions for the army and navy forgetting many of the lessons of the world war. It is not difficult to imagine the fine scorn with which Theodore Roosevelt would have rebuked the shortsighted, expensive economy of our government in some of its provisions for our army and navy.

WASHINGTON NAVAL TREATIES STILL LACKING RATIFICATION.

Will the naval treaties drafted at the Washington conference fail of ratification?

It begins to look like they might. The Washington conference ended many months ago and while Great Britain and Japan have accepted the treaties "in principle," France and Italy have failed to take any steps toward ratification. Both France and Italy are reluctant to ratify the treaties because that it will fix the status of the Mediterranean as a British sea.

If France and Italy fail to ratify the treaties then they will go by the board and we will be just where we were before the Washington conference so far as actual results are concerned, although we do have a better understanding of the attitude of Japan and Great Britain.

In the meantime the British elections will likely bring the League of Nations again to the front. Lloyd George, former premier, is bringing friendship and cooperation with America into the contest. He wants every possible concession made that will help get the United States into the league. In a speech Wednesday he said that the League would be crippled until the United States became a member. "Working with the United States," he declared, "ought to be the purpose of any government. We have more in common with the United States than any other land. If we work together that is the best guarantee of a just and lasting peace. The United States is the great country whose friendship is important."

So closely connected is the world today a contest like that which will be waged in England will be followed with interest in the United States. And the result in England will be reflected in this country.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

DON'T LIVE A "SPECIALIST" LIFE.

To most of us, interest is the sun of our lives. But without variety, interest dulls and gradually disappears altogether.

Lack of interest brings on deadly monotony. If you want to know about the kind of people who probably lived during the "Stone Age," talk to a person who has lived in the midst of monotony for a few years.

Much is said about this being a time of specialties. And this is true: For one man to do one thing better than anyone else, or better than it has ever been done before, is splendid. But this idea must not be carried into the science or art of living.

Don't live a specialist life!

That is, do not concentrate on one thing to the deadening of all other things. Keep feeding your mind a variety of thoughts and ideas. Read all sorts of books which are wholesome, and keep testing out your abilities. Do "stunts." Travel. Keep looking for something new. Have a "hobby."

You will never know the extent of any or all of your various powers until you have tried out each one. And who is there can truthfully say he has tried out all of his abilities?

Be a discoverer. Pioneer. Don't let any part of your mind or body get sleepy.

No wonder an Edison can get along with so little sleep! No wonder he has so little time for outside play. His whole life is a playtime—with each day leading him into stranger and more fascinating realms. Every hour of his life thrills him, because he travels no beaten path.

If you start each day with the idea of doing something that day that you have never done before—and there doesn't live a human being who can't do this—instead of dreading old age and the future, you will live each day to welcome the unfolding of the next new day.

Mental youth is far superior to physical youth—for within its heart it warms revealed mysteries. And it grows in splendor through an understanding that physical youth does not possess.

Love and romance live forever for such a one! And they can live forever in you—if you will let them.

JUST FOLKS

EXCUSES.

Oh, there never was a failure but could readily explain
How disaster overtook him and his efforts all were vain.
And the tramp upon the highway and the beggar on the street
Can give a dozen causes and excuses for defeat.

The crook that lands in prison says he never had a chance,
And can justify his downfall through the web of circumstance;
The deserter and the quitter and the coward and the cheat
Have excuses for their conduct which they readily repeat.

When duty crosses pleasure, when we've tried to win and lost,
We dread the blame and censure and we fear to pay the cost,
So we offer explanations which shall hide the wrong we do
And we hope the world will take them, but we know that they're untrue.

The excuse is always handy, it is always standing by
To hurry us to failure and to stop us when we'd try,
It makes quitting very easy, for it whispers "What's the use
Of fighting to the finish when you've got a good excuse?"

Son of mine, beware excuses. They are always waiting near
To betray you into folly and their words are sweet to hear;
They will counsel every living till your real chance is gone,
But there are no good excuses, so be deaf to every one.

YOU AND I

By ALBERT APPLE

JOKES.

Raymond Hitchcock, comedian, says Americans have a sense of pleasure-in-the-face-of-slapstick fun, but no real sense of humor.

He claims the old jokes go best with audiences because a joke, to an American, is like wine—has to be aged to be appreciated.

That's not the real reason. Old jokes bring laughs, year after year, because a new generation is always growing up that never has heard the old gags. The stuff that is old to grown-ups is new to youth. Actors and scenery change, but life is the same old show, century after century.

TALK.

Comedian Raymond Hitchcock has decided that most Americans who go to theaters have a vocabulary of only 500 words—such as yes, no, listen, radio, love, money, papa, mama, prohibition and say.

Maybe it's for the best.

Even with a vocabulary limited to 500 words, most of us talk too much, of the wrong kind of stuff. What would it be like if we had the whole dictionary at our tongues' tip?

BOOMING.

A shortage of 141,252 freight cars existed October 8, reports the American Railway association. And the shortage is growing.

Nine months ago, on January 8, the railroads had a surplus of 446,671 idle cars.

A comparison of the figures informs you more about business conditions than you could get by reading a mile of the average financial news. When railroads move freight on a big scale, people are buying and selling on a big scale. That makes prosperity.

CHAPTER IV

Outside in the rag-weed patch, Hal Smith rose, stole across the grass to the kitchen door and slipped inside.

"Now, senorita," said Quintana gaily, "my pocket, if you please—and we leave you in the caresses of your faithful gendarme—who should thank God that he still possesses two good hands to fondle you! Alone! Come then! My pocket!"

One of the masked men said: "Take her downstairs and lock her up somewhere or she'll shoot us from her window."

"Lead out that gendarme, too!" added Quintana, grasping Eve by the arm.

Down the stairs tramped the men, forcing their prisoners with them.

In the big kitchen the glare from the burning out-house fell dimly; the place was full of shadows.

"Now," said Quintana, "I take my property and my leave. Where is the pocket hidden?"

She stood for a moment with drooping head, amid the amber shadows, then, slowly, she drew the embossed morocco case from her breast pocket.

What followed occurred in the twinkling of an eye; for, as Quintana extended his arm to grasp the case, a hand snatched it, a masked figure sprang through the doorway, and ran toward the barn.

Somebody recognized the hat and red bandanna;

"Salsar!" he yelled. "Nick Salsar!"

"A traitor, by God!" shouted Quintana. Even before he had reached the door, his pistol flashed twice, deafening all in the semi-darkness, choking them with stifling fumes.

A masked man turned on Stormont, forcing him back into the pantry at pistol-point. Another man pushed Eve after him, slammed the pantry door and bolted it.

Through the iron bars of the pantry window, Stormont saw a man, wearing a red bandanna tied under his eyes, run up and untie his horse and fling himself astride under a shower of bullets.

As he wheeled the horse and swung him into the clearing toward the foot of Star Pond, his seat and horsemanship were not to be mistaken.

He was gone, now, the gallop stretching into a dead run; and Quintana's men still following, shooting, halloing in the starlight like a pack of leaping shapes from hell.

But Quintana had not followed far. When he had emptied his automatic he halted.

Something about the transaction suddenly checked his fury, stilled it, summoned his brain into action.

For a full minute he stood unstirring, every atom of intelligence in terrible concentration.

Presently he put his left hand into his pocket, fitted another clip to his pistol, turned on his heel and walked straight back to the house.

Between the two locked in the pantry not a word had passed. Stormont still peered out between the iron bars, striving to catch a glimpse of what was going on. Eve crouched at the pantry doors, her face in her hands, listening.

Suddenly she heard Quintana's step in the kitchen. Cautiously she turned the pantry key from inside.

Stormont heard her, and instantly came to her. At the same moment Quintana unbolted the door from the outside and tried to open it.

"Come out," he said coldly, "or it will not go well with you when my men return."

"You've got what you say is your property," replied Stormont. "What do you want now?"

"I tell you what I want ver' damn quick. Who was he, thees man who rides with my property on your horse away? Eh? Because it was not Nick Salsa! No! Salsar can not ride thees way. No! Alors!"

"I can't tell you who he was," replied Stormont. "That's your affair, not ours."

"No? Ah! Ver' well, then. I shall tell you, Senor Flic! He was one of yours. I understan'. It is a trap, a cheat—what you call a plant! Thees man who rode your horse he is disguise' Yes! He also is a gendarme! Yes! You think I let a gendarme rob me? I get you where I want you now. You shall write your gendarme frien' that he return to me my property, one day's time or I send him by parcel post two bloo, fresh-cut right-hands—your sweetheart's and your own!

Stormont drew Eve's head close to his:

"This man is blood mad or out of his mind! I'd better go out and take a chance at him before the others come back."

But the girl shook her head violently, caught him by the arm and drew him toward the mouth of the tile down which Chich always emptied his bootch when the Dump was raided.

But now, it appeared that the tile which protruded from the cement floor was removable.

In silence she began to unscrew it, and he, seeing what she was trying to do, helped her.

Together they lifted the heavy tile and laid it on the floor.

"You open thees door!" shouted Quintana in a paroxysm of fury. "I give you one minute! Then, by God I kill you both!"

Eve lifted a corner of wood through which the tile had been set. Under it a black hole yawned. It was a tunnel made of three-foot aqueduct tiles; and it led straight into Star Pond, two hundred feet away.

He Was Gone, Now the Gallop Stretching Into a Dead Run.

Now, as she straightened up and looked silently at Stormont, they heard the trample of boots in the kitchen, voices, the bang of gun-stocks.

"Does that drain lead into the lake?" whispered Stormont.

She nodded

"Will you follow me, Eve?"

She pushed him aside, indicating that he was to follow her.

As she stripped the hunting jack from her, a hot color swept her face. But she dropped on both knees, crept straight into the tile and slipped out of sight

As she disappeared, Quintana shouted something in Portuguese, and fired at the lock

With the smash of splintering wood in his ears, Stormont slid into the smooth tunnel

In an instant he was shooting down a polished toboggan slide, and in another moment was under the icy water of Star Pond

Shocked, blinded, fighting his way to the surface, he felt his spurred boots dragging at him like a ton of iron. Then to him came her helping hand.

"I can make it" he gasped

But his clothing and his boots and the icy water began to tell on him in mid-lake.

Swimming without effort beside him, watching his every stroke, presently she sank a little and glided under him and a little ahead, so that his hands fell upon her shoulders.

He let them rest, so, aware now that it was no burden to such a swimmer. Supple and silent as a swimming otter, the girl slipped lithely through the chilled water, which washed his body to the nostrils and numbed his legs till he could scarcely move them.

And now, of a sudden, his feet touched gravel. He stumbled forward in the shadow of overhanging trees and saw her wading shoreward, a dripping, silvery shape on the shoal.

Then, as he staggered up to her, breathless, where she was standing on the pebbled shore, he saw her join both hands, cup-shape, and lift them to her lips

And out of her mouth poured diamond, sapphire, and emerald in a dazzling stream—and, among them, one great, flashing gem blazing in the starlight—the flaming jewel!

Like a naiad of the lake she stood, white, slim, silent, the heaped gems glittering in her snowy hands, her face framed by the curling masses of her wet hair.

Then, slowly she turned her head to Stormont.

"These are what Quintana came for" she said. "Could you put them into your pocket?"

THE CLUB IS NOW COMPLETE

SOLE SURVIVOR OF "CHARGE OF LIGHT BRIGADE"

Ellis Cutting, Survivor of the Gallant Six Hundred

By NEA Service.

CEDAR RAPIDS, IA., Oct 26—Ellis Cutting, sole survivor of the famous "Charge of the Light Brigade," rode unscathed through that gallant but futile action—to be hurt by a snow plow near here.

Today, 68 years after the immortal execution of blundered orders, Cutting, 8, is alive and alert. He recalls as though it were yesterday the charge at Balaklava, in which he participated as a youth of 17, the charge Tennyson's poem immortalized.

With the Crimean war in progress—Britain and France allied with Turkey against Russia—the Russians attacked the allies at Balaklava Oct. 25, 1854, hoping to cut allied communications.

The "Heavy Brigade" of British cavalry made a furious charge, swept back the attackers and drove them back behind their own artillery.

Blunder Apparent.

The "Light Brigade" commanded by Lord Cardigan, then received orders to charge these cannon and prevent their removal. For cavalry, mounted and armed with lances and sabers, to charge cannon was plainly suicidal. Lord Cardigan read the order, questioned the aide delivering it, the latter, Captain Nolan, waved his arm down the valley toward the Russian cannon.

"Forward, the Light Brigade!" commanded Lord Raglan. Unquestioning the 600 troopers galloped forward, guidons flying, sabers flashing.

Beyond the allied lines, Russ artillery fired point blank from three sides into the gallant horsemen.

Captain Nolan, bearer of the note to charge, suddenly dashed across the front of the charges, possibly to swerve the troops from the death trap. A shell made him the first to fall.

Guns Are Taken.

Straight at the enemy guns out in front rode Cardigan's command. The numbers dwindled rapidly as converged cannon fire swept them.

The guns were reached, silenced. Small parties even attacked the cavalry behind. But a battle against such overwhelming odds could only end in annihilation. Other cavalry arrived in time to hold the ground won by the Light Brigade.

Most historians say a third of the Light Brigade survived. Cutting, though, says only six came out alive. Lord Cardigan was one of these.

"I can't describe it, it's beyond me," says Cutting. "We were swept through that hell of fire and death hearing nothing, knowing nothing, feeling nothing but a desire to reach the Russians

"Everyone hoped to pick a man. All I thought was to get him first."

Active Today.

"Instead of rushing in cavalry, Lord Raglan ought to have ordered an infantry maneuver. That would have saved hundreds of brave boys."

Cutting later served in the British army in Indian mutinies, in the Lucknow siege, in Egypt and in South Africa. The only wound he received was a bayonet thrust in one foot.

Coming to America, he became a fireman on what is now the Rock Island, was promoted to engineer six months later and served until pensioned in 1919.

Forty years ago, he was thrown 69 feet by a rotary snow plow and sustained several broken bones. Aside from that, he has never been hurt in railroading.

"Foin Tim" Cutting, the railroaders call him all over the Rock Island system. He reads newspapers without his glasses, and he walks two miles or more every time he goes downtown from his home.

LARGE FRAME BUILDING AT HASKELL IS BURNED

HASKELL, TEXAS, Oct. 26.—A large frame building known as the old skating rink, one block north of the public square, was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday morning. The building contained 1,000 bales of hay, three old cars, 500 bushels of cotton seed and a gasoline engine.

DRY ENFORCEMENT ON FOREIGN SHIPS FURTHER DELAYED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Pending a final interpretation of the statute by the supreme court today, probably late next month or in December, enforcement of the national prohibition laws under the ruling holding it to prohibit possession of liquor on foreign ships within American territorial waters will be withheld, according to the indicated policy of administration officials. It was after the decision to defer enforcement of the law as construed by Attorney General Daugherty had been formulated and communicated to Associate Justice Brandeis of the supreme court yesterday that he denied the writ of supercedeas sought by various shipping lines to stay enforcement of Federal Judge Hand's decision at New York dismissing their petition for a permanent injunction against application of the Volstead act.

The department of justice has acquiesced in the petition for the writ, the department said in a statement, in view of the completion of preparations to expedite a decision by the supreme court, but counsel for the government and the steamship lines were understood to have agreed with Justice Brandeis that the decision as to enforcement had removed any necessity for granting it.

This decision was announced by Secretary Mellon in a statement explaining an informal order issued to customs officers and prohibition agents under which foreign ships are permitted to continue to carry liquor within American territorial waters under seal as heretofore.

F. B. Massey and Grady Cabiness left Thursday for Corpus Christi, Laredo and other south Texas points on a deer hunt.

Pain in Your Side?

Then This Is of Vital Importance to You

Belton, Texas—"A few years ago I had a bad spell of feminine trouble, was in bed two months. My doctor did all he could for me, but I got only temporary relief and my side hurt me terribly, so I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After taking four bottles my pains were all gone and I have had no such trouble since. I have just taken two bottles of the 'Prescription' this season for irregularity and find it does all that is claimed for it. It's a fine medicine and all suffering women will find relief if they give it a trial. I have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as a tonic and blood purifier; it also is a good medicine."—Mrs. Ollie B. Roberts, Route 4.

FILLING STATION PUMPS WILL NOT ACCURATELY MEASURE ALL GRADES

MEMPHIS, TENN., Oct. 26.—Motorists will be instructed in a decision rendered in circuit court here in which it was admitted that filling station pumps, no matter how carefully adjusted, will not measure the various grades of gasoline now on the market in the same way, according to local automobile owners.

One Memphis filling station owner refused to pay for repairs on his pump after consumers had complained that it was giving short measure. The repairman produced a quantity of standard gasoline and proved to the court that the repaired pump measured it correctly. But when other gasoline was tried the pump gave short measure. The court held that the repairs must be paid for and that the station owner must learn how to adjust the pump for the various grades of gasoline handled if full measure was to be given.

OUTLOOK FOR ORIENT RAILROAD IS BRIGHT SAYS PARTY EXPERTS

SAN ANGELO, TEXAS, Oct. 26.—The outlook for a sound and equitable rehabilitation of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad is brighter now than in many months, if not in its history, said Clyde Reed, chairman of the Kansas public utilities commission, when he, with a party of experts from connecting lines of the Orient, stopped in San Angelo today. The party was returning to Wichita, Kan., after inspecting the Orient to Alpina.

The larger lines are not unfriendly to the Orient, which is a "feeder" to them, Mr. Reed asserted. He said they loaned their men for the inspection of the Orient only to give disinterested advice on problems confronting the management. The Orient has never been and is not now a dividend paying road, being operated with government aid solely for the public's benefit. Reed explained, saying that to reduce expenses and increase earnings so far as to eliminate the existing deficit, decisions will be made as to whether 400 bad order cars should be repaired at a cost of $1,000 each and whether Orient engines should be converted from coal to oil burners at an estimated cost of $1,700 to $2,000 each.

Mr. Reed said it is unlikely that any recommendations concerning rate changes will be made to the interstate commerce commission. Reduction of the tax valuation of the road to $150 a mile by practically all counties penetrated by it has helped materially, he said.

The special train, carrying the inspection party, ran from San Angelo to Fort Stockton, 184 miles, in four hours and twenty-five minutes yesterday, showing, the officials said, that the line has a good roadbed and fair equipment.

'The Storm' Is Picture Full of Thrilling Scenes

Wichita Falls patrons of the movie have been treated to a number of thrilling scenes in connection with screen production, but nothing heretofore shown will compare in splendor with "The Storm," showing at the Olympic for the remainder of the week. From the beginning of the picture when in a canoe, the daughter rides the dangerous rapids in an effort to rescue her father from the Royal Mounted police, to the forest fire scene when Burr Winton rescues Manette and Dave Stewart from the rushing flames, it is one thrill after another, with an intermingling of good, clean comedy and a love story that holds interest throughout.

The forest fire scene is one of the most realistic productions in the history of the motion picture industry, while the storm and snow scene are far above the average effort to reproduce the winter in the great northwest.

The Olympic was crowded Wednesday night for two full performances and the picture will no doubt break attendance records for a four days run in the city.

MICHIGAN GIRL FOUND GUILTY OF MURDERING INVALID FATHER-IN-LAW

WHITE CLOUD, MICH., Oct. 26.—Mrs. Meda Hodell, 26-year-old swamp country girl, was found guilty of first degree murder by a circuit court jury here today in connection with the death of her invalid father-in-law, David Hodell. The jury had deliberated a little more than two hours.

Mrs. Hodell was accused of having poisoned her father-in-law, who lived in her home, because "he was such a care."

The case was the outgrowth of investigations into the alleged slaying of Hodell's son, Romie. During the investigation, Mrs. Hodell is alleged to have confessed she poisoned the elder Hodell and was concerned in the killing of Romie, her husband. She later repudiated the alleged confession.

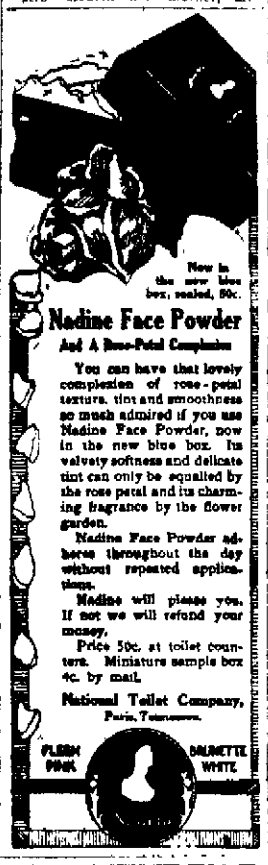
Mrs. Hodell, her mother, Mrs. Alice Dudgeon, and her brothers, Lee and Herman Dudgeon, are charged jointly with having been implicated in the death of Romie Hodell. The women are alleged to have beaten the victim on the head with a rolling pin while he lay sleeping. The brothers are charged with having attempted to cover up the crime by hanging the body in a barn to give the appearance of suicide.

UNABLE TO RELIEVE SHORTAGE OF FREIGHT AND LIVESTOCK CARS

MADISON, WIS., Oct. 26.—The shortage of freight and stock cars already causing increased losses to potato, cabbage and stock shippers in Wisconsin, probably cannot be relieved for some time, the interstate commerce commission today advised the state railroad commission.

"The range cattle on account of the advance of storms have absorbed the manager car supply available on lines serving the northwest, while drought conditions in Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma and elsewhere have made a demand for cars beyond the ability of carriers to furnish," the telegram said.

Spartan daughters were taught to wrestle and fight like their brothers.



Man Confesses Attorney Is Not Guilty of Crime

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., Oct. 26.—Frank Rawlins, who, with John H. Pope, Jacksonville attorney, was convicted of murder in the first degree for the killing of George H. Hickman, widely known theatrical man, here in September, 1921, has confessed, according to Pope's attorneys, that Pope had nothing to do with the affair and that he implicated Pope in the hope that by so doing he would escape capital punishment.

Rawlins and Pope were sentenced to life imprisonment and the state supreme court last week refused Pope's request for a new trial.

Edgar Wayburight, counsel for Pope, in announcing Rawlins had exonerated Pope, added he would file with the supreme court today a motion for stay of mandate in connection with the refusal of a new trial.

Hickman was manager of a vaudeville house here. During an evening performance Rawlins entered Hickman's office and demanded the box office receipts. Hickman leaped at Rawlins and the latter fired, killing Hickman instantly. No one in the audience heard the shot. A policeman saw Rawlins running and stopped him on suspicion.

Rawlins told authorities that Pope planned the robbery and the court ruled that Pope, as the alleged instigator of the killing, "stood in the shoes of Rawlins when Rawlins fired the fatal shot." Both were convicted of murder in the first degree with a recommendation for mercy.

The most important pending ground is off the count of murder indicted.

TRANSPORTATION ONE OF DIFFICULT PROBLEMS OF NATIONS SAYS PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON Oct 26—President Harding in a message of greeting to the second national conference on education for highway engineering and highway transport which convened here today declared the problem of transportation one of the most difficult faced by the nations of the world 'We are all agreed that the country needs good roads and more of them but we also have been brought to realize that they are not to be had without very great expense'

"Your organization is one of those particularly well equipped to deal with the industrial and technical side as well as the financial aspects of this problem, and I most earnestly hope that your Washington convention will produce some useful illumination of the problem"

Saturday Promises Much for Followers of Gridiron Teams

By SPIKE COOPER

Eyes of the football world are beginning to focus on Stagg field where Saturday the Princeton Tiger will fight to terminate a three-year engagement over the flashing proteges of Alonzo Stagg fight to take the deciding game of the series, each team having taken one contest

Iowa a spectacular defeat of the Yale Bulldog two weeks ago brought confidence to the west Centre fought Harvard to a standstill after losing the game in the first few minutes of play establishing the permanent standard of southern grid squads Michigan held to a scoreless tie by the Vandy Commodores, trounced Ohio one week later while Texas was scoring twice on McGugin's team That rated Texas accomplishment and ability with that of the Big Ten Michigan is picked to fight for conference honors And from that a Chicago win from Princeton would add still more impetus to the already increasing prestige of southern football

Texas' Fight for Recognition

Then there's another Saturday contest which will bear weight on intersectional strength Alabama invades Austin for the first of a two year contract with the Longhorns Last Saturday Alabama had Sewanee defeated until the final minutes of play when a back snatched a long pass from the air and hitched himself unto the goal line and a tied count A Texas win from Alabama will place the Southwestern conference on a substantial basis

Another recent contest which threw light on Southwestern achievement was when Oklahoma State played the Kansas Aggies to a 7 7 tie even though a decisive defeat was predicted Benny Owens team outfought the more powerful Farmers and surprised even its most ardent supporters And when Oklahoma was a member of the Southwestern conference signal honors did not always rest in Boonsville

The preseason games are about all played. All teams are settling down to conference struggles or the inter sectional contests which annually upset all previous dope

Big Games Starting

Chief among the games which will be watched from Texas are those which trend toward honors or titles

At Boston Lafayette is due to wallop Boston College for their second loss of the season In that event Baylor will journey to Braves Field with a far more enviable record than the Catholics Baylor will easily win from Mississippi College Saturday their final game before the Boston journey

Dartmouth invades Harvard for the annual clash between those heated rivals The Green is figured stronger than at any time during the past 10 years and a win there might be possible unless the Harvard line and backs prove more effective than against Morningside Praying Colonels

The Navy tackles Pennsylvania for an annual go that should add another feather to the Middies crown

Syracuse and Penn State will battle before packed stands in the Polo grounds a grudge game that means as much to the northern New York Catholics as does the Pittsburgh game The heavier Syracuse line should afford victory

Then too Saturday sees the Army face Yale in the great New Haven bowl Thus far there is no possible comparison between the two teams but Yale is of course favored to win.

Big Ten Holds Sway

As the scene shifts to the western journey of Princeton holds the spotlight Each team possesses the necessary confidence and the breaks will likely determine the winner Chicago is a western favorite of the day

Illinois meets Michigan at Ann Arbor The Illinois held Iowa to an 8 win Saturday and the comparative strength of Yost's men and Zuppke's younger member of the Big Ten will Iowa and Michigan contenders for Big Ten honors

Dark horses are not counted in the race so far and their showing against the inexperienced squads will be of their strength as well as eliminating Oklahoma from the chase

The Kansas Aggies should send their rival college Kansas State with an unsensational victory

Locarno Catholics from Notre Dame look up with Georgia Tech at Atlanta Unless the heat should slow the northern entry down Tech will likely feel the same defeat as of last Saturday when the Navy got them at their own game, open play

Texas Crippled.

The Alabama-Texas game at Austin is scheduled as a victory for Alabama Vanderbilt sent the Longhorns back to Austin in a crippled condition with three stars still in the hospital The loss will probably set Texas the only chance she ever had for a win

The west coast is idle insofar as noteworthy games is considered California meets southern California at Los Angeles in an annual tilt but the 1921 champions listed as long favorites

Next Saturday is one of the biggest days of the present season for grid fans

MUSTANG COACHES CHANGING TACTICS

Overhead Game In Prospect For Saturday Battle With Oklahoma Aggies.

DALLAS TEXAS Oct 26—Fair Park stadium fans have looked in vain for an overhead duel during the present football season, but if the plans of Coaches Morrison and Freeland work out this week, they will see two aerial attacks launched against each other Saturday when the Oklahoma Aggies come here to open Southern Methodist university's conference schedule In every game to date the aerial offense has been used only as a desperate resort by one team while the other bored through the line or went at the ends

Saturday a game two strong defenses meet No team has been able to score through the Mustang defense to date and the Oklahoma Aggies in their only defeat stayed off the versatile rush of the Longhorns The Stillwater squad is a passing team that is the basis of attack and in practice the formation designed by Maulbetsch and built around the dashing Hashbrook have gotten away against capable defensive teams Bringing a team here in good condition the Oklahoma Aggie coach expects to use his overhead aces

S M U must turn to the overhead game They have an end running attack and a fair plunging game but these will not advance against a defense strong and well trained enough to block them unless the open game can force a scattered defense Realizing this Morrison and Freeland have worked all week to use the pass from their running and plunging formations in order to make it effective either as an accomplishment or a threat Rowson Stallenwerck and Ingram have been used to make the heaves and the ends tackles and backs have been running their tongues out in receiving practice against reserves drilled in the Maulbetsch style of defense

The Mustangs are far enough long in the season to have their threat men marked and must have an offense capable of upsetting opposing calculations

WON FOR HER IN SERIES

Fiancee Who Saw "Rosey" Ryan Cop First Game

MISS ANNA N REIDY

By NEA Service

WORCHESTER MASS Oct 26 The strategy of John J McGraw leader of baseball's champion Giants reached even to the heights of romance

Never mind what the baseball experts say—here is the real truth of the strategy McGraw employed in winning the first game of the world series in New York

Just before the game Wilfred Ryan one of the giant pitchers—known to the fans as Rosy Ryan—took Manager McGraw over to a box and introduced him to Miss Anna N Reidy of Worcester

The engagement was announced Miss Reidy was present at the game when Ryan pitched the giants to victory in the first game of the series But at the beginning of the eighth inning with the Giants holding a 2 1 lead McGraw decided to pin his slipping faith to Ryan

Ryan went in and won that game as ordered And does it let me catch you disappointing that sweetheart of yours over there in the box She prays you to win and so do I

What could a fellow do in a case like that Win of course That's what Ryan did He struck out two Yanks in sliding Babe Ruth and then the Giants made three runs in that inning and Ryan got credit for winning the game

STATZ SLUMPS IN LAST WEEK; FAILS TO CLOUT 300; CUBS SAVE $10,000

CHICAGO Oct 2 —Failure of Arnold Statz star outfielder of the Chicago Nationals to keep up his batting in the last four games of the 1922 season saved his club $10 000 it was revealed today The Chicago club had agreed to pay the Los Angeles club of the Pacific coast league this amount in addition to the cash and players already given for Statz if the star should finish the season with a batting average of .300 or better Statz never knew nothing of this agreement

Statz finished the season with an average of 29 according to unofficial figures compiled here Four days before the season closed the little outfield star was traveling along with a mark of 301 In his last four games he made only three hits in sixteen times at bat.

TERRILL LEADS IN ACADEMIC LEAGUE

Allen Academy Looks Strong, But Star of Squad Ineligible Saturday Game Important.

WACO TEXAS Oct 26 — The Terrill Training school coached by Pete Cawthon defeated the Dallas university academy last week in the first game of the season that had direct bearing on the race for the championship of Baylor university's new Texas Academy Athletic conference The 7 to 0 victory by Cawthon's club places Terrill at the top of the ladder with a percentage of 1 000

The Allen academy team of Bryan one of the strongest contenders for the title journeyed to Rusk last week where the Bryan Hill Toppers defeated the Rusk college team by a score of 7 to 0 Rusk is coached by Buba Mosley former Baylor university mentor and he produced a team that proved rather tough for the Allen boys On several occasions with the ball within the very shadow of the Rusk goal posts Allen could not show sufficient punch to carry it over The equipts of Hudson and Moore The punts of Hudson and Moore that will be of much value to the team in its conference games The San Marcos Baptist academy team took on Bryan high last week

Allen Looms Strong

Thus far the Allen academy team seems the class of the new conference this season but the Bryan school has been winning its games with the services of Cortemeglia and Cornelisen The former has performed nobly against all opposition flashing in the same brilliant manner that characterized his play in high school circles last season In fact he is an even better player today than he was a year ago

Bill Cortemeglia is ineligible for the conference games He will not be allowed to play against the Dallas university academy San Marcos Baptist academy Terrill or Powell Training school Just how strong the Bryan academy will be without the services of such a star is just now a moot question

The game of this week however between Allen and Dallas university academy will go a long way in answering that question

Chewning Not to Face Hastings Here Friday; Second Regular Lost

Shorty Chewning battering half-back of the Coyotes will not appear against the Hastings team Friday afternoon He is the second regular to drop after the Electra game, Coffey being out for a few days with an injured leg Chewning and Coffey both have a similar infection

While the two regulars will disrupt the team to a certain extent they can be replaced by competent members of the squad Hewle or Tyson will likely take Coffey's tackle and there are four backs who can be relied upon to fill Chewning's shoes Moore Taylor Beach and Curtain will all probably get into the clash before it is finished

Other members of the squad are in excellent condition and the effects of the great contest last Saturday have disappeared

Officials selected for the Friday game with Hastings are Hurt (Oklahoma) King (Oklahoma) and McClain (Ohio State)

BIG THREE NOT BARRED FROM FOREIGN CONTESTS

NEW YORK Oct 26—The impression which appears to prevail in certain quarters that Harvard Yale and Princeton are barred from further participation in inter-sectional football games by the new training agreement is not apparently borne out by a careful reading of the clauses in the agreement which goes into effect on January 1

It is stipulated that no post season contest or contests for the purpose of settling sectional or other championships involving long or expensive trips and extended absence from the university shall be permitted

With the exception of the visit of the Harvard team to California during the 1919 Christmas holidays to meet Oregon and the present week end journey of Princeton to Chicago none of the big three has violated the incoming regulation within the past decade College elevens from other sections of the country have in turn invaded the gridirons at Princeton, New Haven and Cambridge during that period and there appears to be nothing in the new agreement to prevent their coming in the future under similar conditions

COTTON MARKET

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—Trading in cotton was a little less active than recently and the market opened at a decline of 4 to 12 points under realizing and scattered selling promoted by the relatively easy ruling of Liverpool and a feeling that the advance of the past few days had been sufficient to entitle prices to reactions. December contracts eased off to 24.09 and January to 23.82 after the call, or about 19 to 13 points net lower, but except for profit taking selling was held in check by continued bullish reports from the cotton goods market and favorable overnight advices from the southern spot market.

There was a spurt of buying during the middle of the morning which was accompanied by reports of even more demand for cotton goods and which carried the price of December up from 24.02 to 24.25, or about 2 to 5 points net higher on the general list. This bulge met another wave of realizing however and the market sagged back to about the early low levels with trading less active and the tone nervous around midday. New Orleans was a considerable seller on the mid-morning advance which led to rumors of increased spot offerings.

Rumors that spot cotton was being offered a little more freely in the south were partly responsible for a renewal of realizing during the early afternoon. December contracts eased off to 23.33 with the general market ruling about 21 to 23 points net lower around 3 o'clock.

Cotton closed easy.

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS Oct. 26—Poor cables and an unfavorable opinion of foreign news caused much liquidation of long contracts in the cotton market today and in the first half hour of the session prices lost 20 to 25 points. December dropped to 23.40 cents a pound.

Fluctuations were nervous throughout the morning session. A great deal of liquidation continued to be felt and it more than supplied the demand at times so that at one stage of the trading December was off to 23.30 with the list at net declines of 28 to 35 points. Toward noon there was a bulge of 20 points from the lowest on new buying stimulated by further accounts of a large business doing in the cotton goods markets of the country.

Selling was persistent and fairly general. What looked like extensive unloading of long contracts continued. In the trading up to 1.20 o'clock prices were sent 35 to 45 points under the close of yesterday to 23.29 for December.

Cotton closed steady at a net decline of 28 to 40 points.

STOCKS AND FINANCIAL

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—Continuation of yesterday's professional selling of industrial stocks took place at the opening of today's stock market and imparted a decidedly reactionary tone to most of the list. Oil, steel and equipment shares were offered freely, the declines in active issues ranging from 1 to 3½ points. Rails offered better resistance to selling pressure. Pennsylvania climbing to 49¾ in your weirs in response to a resumption of a six per cent dividend. Reading also opened slightly higher but soon canceled its gain and dropped to a point below yesterday's close. Norfolk and Western and Delaware Lackawanna and Western also sold off a point. The slump in oil shares was led by Mexican Petroleum which dropped 3¾ points while Standard Oils of California and New Jersey and the Pan-American issues yielded 1 to 1½. Other weak spots were Studebaker, Baldwin, General Electric, Consolidated Gas, American Locomotive and Coca Cola, the declines ranging from 1½ to 2 points. One of the few outstanding strong spots was Houston Oil, up 1¾.

Hasty unloading of stocks bought for the long account continued and the supply pressing on the market was largely augmented by extensive short selling. A further drop in the new government 4¼ per cent bonds to 99.28 intensified the feeling of dejection among the bulls. High priced shares as usual, suffered the most extensive losses. Mexican Petroleum yielding 4 points and American Car and Foundry three while Hide and Leather preferred fell 2¾, American Radiator and Allis Chalmers 2¼, Sears Roebuck 2¼ and Crucible, Gulf States Replogle and Republic Steel preferred and North American 2 points.

The closing was weak. Mexican Petroleum dropped 7 points, Call money went to six per cent on a renewing of loans, sales approximated 1,100,000 shares.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE

CHICAGO, Oct. 26—Although prospects for enlarged receipts led to something of a decline in wheat prices today at the outset the market recovered and advanced. Orders which have been issued regarding a better distribution of box cars were interpreted as meaning that facilities for quicker movement of grain to primary terminals might soon be in operation. However, bulls were favored by higher quotations at Liverpool and there was continued lack of rain in the winter crop belt. The opening which ranged from ¼c off to ¼c up with December and May both at $1.11½ to $1.11¾ was followed by a slight general setback and then by an upturn all around.

Persistent commission house buying together with absence of any aggressive selling was a feature and considerable notice was taken of a reduction of 40,000,000 bushels in estimates of the Australian exportable surplus. Profit taking on the part of holders weakened the market at the last. Prices closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ¼c higher, with December and May both $1.11½ to $1.11¾.

Corn fluctuated with wheat. After opening ¼c lower to a like advance December 65½@66c to 66¼c, the market wavered a little and then made a moderate rain. Offerings were light at times. Domestic demand for prompt shipment showed improvement. The close was unsettled at ¼c off to ¼c advance, December 65½c.

Oats were firm from the start, opening ¼c to ½c higher, December 41 to 41¼c and later continued to advance.

Provisions reflected a downturn in hog values.

Tells Husband He's Lucky Cops Caught Him Before She Did

[illegible] officers noted a woman who met the police station Wednesday afternoon following the arrest of a man and woman in a local rooming house.

"That is the man I married," she answered and "it is his good luck that you got him before I found him." The woman said she had searched the town trying to locate her husband and the other woman." She claimed to have been armed and had informed the police department before the arrest that she was also on the lookout for the couple. The man pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge and was fined $25 in the city court Thursday morning.

Other fines for the morning session were light but numerous and cash for the day amounted to $146.

VERNON, TEXAS, Oct. 26.—C. A. Richie, district clerk of Wilbarger county, who was taken ill shortly after returning from prayer meeting last Wednesday evening, has little chance to recover, according to physicians attending him. Mr Richie is 77 years of age and until this illness has been very active with the duties of his office. He is suffering from an infection of the liver.

Members of his family are in attendance at his bedside and the family have received many messages of sympathy from friends over the county. Mr. Richie's wife died just a short time ago, they having been married for more than 40 years. Mr. Richie is at his home his condition being considered too serious to risk making the change to the hospital.

WIND SHIFTS TO WEST AND SKIES FREED OF CLOUDS

The wind made another change in the past 24 hours. Wednesday morning the direction was west. During the night the clouds passed away and Thursday morning clear skies were reported from all points touched by local railroads.

Wednesday afternoon the maximum temperature reached by the thermometer locally was 77 degrees and during the night it receded to the 50 degree point. With the sun shining down warm Thursday morning the mercury started climbing and it was evident that it would possibly reach the 55 degree mark during the day.

Wichita Falls awoke Thursday morning to find itself in the grasp of a heavy fog. The fog settled immediately after sunrise and according to all weather prophets this designates clear weather.

TWO MEN TURNED LOOSE FOLLOWING HEARING THURSDAY

Judge E. W. Napier of the 78th district court discharged C. C. and A. L. Read following a habeas corpus hearing Thursday morning. Judge Napier enlisted the aid of twelve men who occupied the jury box in arriving at his verdict.

The two men were charged with the theft of an automobile from F. McMaster of Electra. The facts as brought out in the hearing were that Mr McMaster parked his car on a vacant lot with other cars at 7 o'clock at night and upon returning at 10 o'clock found his Ford roadster missing.

He was at that time riding in another automobile. They saw his car with the two defendants proceeding down the street. They overtook them and later turned them over to the police.

The two young men stated that a man had pointed the car out to them and told them to drive two blocks and that he would take them out to a lease to go to work. The defendants stated that they were not given an opportunity to find the man who had told them to get the car.

Twelve men were in the jury box awaiting to be examined in a civil case. Upon conclusion of the testimony Judge Napier asked each one of the prospective jurors to write guilty or not guilty on a slip of paper. The poll resulted in seven voting for acquittal and five for conviction.

DRIVERLESS WAGON CRASHES INTO TRUCK DAMAGE IS SLIGHT

A driverless milk wagon and a big truck staged a spectacular but comparatively harmless collision Thursday morning on Eighth street between Scott and Indiana. No one was injured and the damage was slight.

The milk wagon was going east on Eighth, the horses having started up while the driver was delivering some milk at a restaurant. The truck, belonging to the Moore Sheet Metal works, and driven by R. L. Caywood, was turning to go up the alley back of the First National bank when Caywood saw the milk wagon approaching. He had barely time to maneuvre his truck so that the wagon tongue would not strike the cab before the crash came. The wagon tongue took the brunt of the shock, penetrating between the spokes of the truck's left rear wheel; spectators agreed that it was a pretty good tongue.

Bystanders backed the milk wagon out of its precarious position, and found the horses unhurt. The truck sustained slight damage, and the milk wagon even less; a few bottles of milk were broken.

MRS. HATFIELD SABINA, OHIO

In Pitiable Condition When She Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sabina, Ohio.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and irregularity. I was weak and nervous and could hardly stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal. I was this way for about a year and had tried several medicines and had a physician, but to no avail. My sister was taking your medicine and finally induced me to try it. I now feel fine and can do my housework without any trouble at all. You can use this letter for the sake of others if you wish."—Mrs. WELDON G. HATFIELD, R. R. 3, Sabina, Ohio.

Housewives make a great mistake in allowing themselves to become so weak and nervous that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their necessary household duties.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken when you first notice such symptoms as nervousness, backache, weakness and irregularity. It will help you and prevent more serious trouble.

What education and common sense are doing for thousands

THOUSANDS of people are learning that they cannot drink coffee or tea at supper time and get a good night's sleep.

Experience has taught these men and women to recognize that the caffeine in both coffee and tea is often responsible for a wakeful, restless night, and a nervous "next day."

If you have reason to believe that coffee or tea is causing your headaches, insomnia or nervousness, why not drink rich, refreshing Postum instead.

Postum is the delicious golden-brown cereal beverage that many former coffee-drinkers prefer for its satisfying flavor alone.

Ask your grocer today for Postum and begin serving this delicious beverage at meal times—and see how well you like it.

Postum comes in two forms:—Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling fully twenty minutes.
